

*Cancer Survivor
Creates Solution to Major Medical Problem.*

Eight years after surgery and 40 radiation treatments later, and while still suffering painful after effects, Abbe Sennett is undeterred in her commitment to help others with medical problems.

Besides donating time and money to various medical groups, Abbe has created a line of medical ID bracelets that are persuading otherwise reluctant patients to wear this potentially lifesaving alert.

As an artist, designer, inventor and entrepreneur, she presents a singular profile of courage that has captivated cancer survivors and other people with dangerous medical conditions such as diabetes, organ transplants, epilepsy and heart patients.

For every bracelet sold, Abbe's Medical ID Fashions donates $2 to one of several major medical organizations.

Thanks to her inspired creative vision, you are no longer sentenced to wear something "ugly" to be safe—because now there's a beautiful way to save your life.
